Institute of Oriental Culture, University of Tokyo

The Institute of Oriental Culture, one of twelve research institutes of the University of Tokyo, is a distinguished center of Asian Studies in Japan. The Institute is characterized by interdisciplinary studies. The research staff is presently composed of thirty-one specialists in various disciplines in the humanities and social sciences, such as history, literature, religious studies, art, archaeology, political science, law, economics, human geography and cultural anthropology.

Research emphasizes the analysis of documentary materials as well as field surveys and is conducted in close contact with scholars of related fields, including local scholars in different regions in Asia.

The Institute comprises the following four major departments: Pan Asia, East Asia, South Asia (including Southeast Asia), and West Asia (including Central Asia and Egypt).

The professors and associate professors holding appointments in the Institute form a permanent committee which handles Institute affairs, including the appointment of research staff. This committee is chaired by the Director. The Institute's faculty also teach postgraduate students in various departments of the University of Tokyo. In addition, the Institute staff includes a number of research associates, librarians and administrative personnel. Since 1966 the Documentation Center has been affiliated with the Institute and is run by experts to provide reference services relating both to Asian classics and modern publications.

CURRENT RESEARCH PROJECTS

In addition to individual research, research projects are regularly conducted. Each project, which involves one or more working groups, normally lasts several years and may involve occasional revisions and changes in subjects and participants. Working groups invite the participation of scholars in related fields from different faculties of the University of Tokyo as well as from other universities. A large number of scholars are thus affiliated with the Institute. The following projects are currently being carried out. (project leaders are indicated in parentheses):

1. States and the traditional political system in Asian Societies. (Sekimoto)
2. Methods of field surveys in Asian villages. (Tomosugi)
3. Rural development and rural industry in Asia. (Yamada)
4. Comparison of political systems in East and Southeast Asia. (Inoguchi)
5. Colonial rule and the commercialization of agriculture. (Yanagisawa)
6. Social structure in the Shang and Zhou periods as revealed through ancient Chinese artifacts. (Matsumaru)
7. Comprehensive study of Chinese thought in the Six-Dynasties and Sui-Tang era. (Hachiya)
8. State structure and bureaucracy in premodern East Asia. (Ikeda)
9. Politico-economic process in the Song China. (Shiba)
10. Village society and local literature in Southern China. (Tanaka)
11. Survey of public and private documents in China and Korea after the 17th century. (Hamashita)
12. Location and classification of Chinese paintings kept in various institutions in Japan and abroad. (Toda)
13. Social change in near-modern and modern Korea. (Miyajima)
14. Social structure and traditional culture in South Asia. (Yanagisawa)

15. Study of the epics of India. (Kamimura)
16. Social change and social consciousness in South and Southeast Asia. (Kano)
17. Comparison of Asian cities. (Tomosugi)

20. Rituals and religious institutions in Asia. (Yamazaki)

LIBRARY

The Library of the Institute holds more than 380,000 volumes of books and over 4,000 periodical titles, including one of the best extant collections of Chinese source materials. Among its important sub-collections are: the Donghai-Zangshu-lou Collection (Chinese classics), the Ōki Collection (Chinese law), the Niida Collection (Chinese law), the Kiyono Collection (anthropology and archaeology), the Egami Collection (archaeology, history and ethnology), the Kuraishi Collection (Chinese language and literature), and the Nagasawa Collection (Chinese drama and novels).

Collections relating to other parts of Asia, including those in local languages, have also been recently augmented. The Library has long been one of the three major Japanese libraries for Oriental scholarship, and each year approximately 8,500 persons, including Orientalists from abroad, make use of its facilities.

THE DOCUMENTATION CENTER FOR ASIAN STUDIES

The main purpose of Center is to provide various documentation services to scholars and librarians at home and abroad in the field of Asian Studies and thereby contribute to its further advancement. The Center publishes two or three volumes in the Asian Studies Documentation Series a year, including catalogues, bibliographies, indices, critical editions, etc., covering China, Korea, Tibet, Vietnam and Indonesia. So far, 70 volumes have been published in this series (see list, pp. 15-20). These publications are distributed to 330 universities, colleges, and research institutions in Japan and 120 such institutions abroad.

PUBLICATIONS OF THE INSTITUTE

PERIODICALS

The Memoirs of the Institute of Oriental Culture (東洋文化研究所紀要)

Published three times a year. Each volume is a collection of academic essays by the research staff of the Institute and its affiliated members. The first volume was published in 1943, and 106 volumes had been published by March, 1988.

Oriental Culture (東洋文化)

Edited by the research staff of the Institute, with contributions invited from researchers on Asian studies, Oriental Culture began as a quarterly journal, but is now published annually as a single volume devoted to a specific subject. The predecessor was called The Oriental Culture Review and ran from Vol. 1 (1944) to Vol. 11 (1949). The new series was initiated with the present name and format in 1950 and has so far published 68 vols., the most recent appearing in March 1988 (Vol. 68).
