

The First Joint Interdisciplinary Conference
The University of Chicago – the University of Tokyo

Innovative Science and Social Ethics

12:30-5:50 PM, October 17, 2016

Main Conference Room (3rd Floor), Institute for Advanced Studies on Asia
The University of Tokyo

Tentative Program

12:30

Registration

12:40-1:00

Opening Remarks

Prof. Naoto Sekimura (Deputy Director General, Division of Intl. Affairs, UTokyo)
Dr. Michael Kulma (Associate Vice President for Global Initiatives, UChicago)

1:00-1:30

Issues, Agenda, and Context

Prof. Takahiro Nakajima (Institute for Advanced Studies on Asia, UTokyo)
Prof. James Ketelaar (Humanities and Social Sciences Divisions, UChicago)

1:30-2:30

Session 1: Medicine and Ethics

Prof. Mark Ratain (Center for Personalized Therapeutics, UChicago)
Prof. Kaori Muto (Institute of Medical Science, UTokyo)

2:30-2:40

Coffee break

2:40-3:40

Session 2: Science and Ethics

Prof. Naoto Sekimura (Graduate School of Engineering, UTokyo)
Prof. Keith Bradley (Argonne National Laboratory)

3:10-4:10

Session 3: Law, Politics, and Ethics

Prof. Hideaki Shiroyama (Graduate School for Law and Politics, UTokyo)
Prof. Tom Ginsburg (Law School, UChicago)

4:10-4:50

Comprehensive discussion

4:50-5:50

Future planning on Strategic Partnership

6:00-8:30

Reception (Faculty Club, Ito International Research Center)

This conference is generously sponsored by

The Japan Committee of the University of Chicago
The Medical School
The Law School
Argonne National Laboratory
The University of Chicago

Division of International Affairs
Institute of Medical Science
Graduate School of Engineering
Graduate School for Law and Politics
Institute for Advanced Studies on Asia
The University of Tokyo